July 13, 2010 - DRAFT OF RAILYARD ART MAPS:

- The jurisdictions defined on the following maps are governed by the City of Santa Fe’s “Santa Fe Railyard Park, Plaza and Alameda Public Policies and Procedures, Volumes I and II”, also referred to as the PP+P
- All art placed in these public spaces are required to follow PP&P requirements.
- Please review the PP+P for allowable uses, including performance art, and video projections, and chalk art, and such.
- In addition, please review the “Definitions of the Santa Fe Railyard Art Committee, Site Considerations, Oversight of the Program, and Application Forms”.

Key to colors of maps:

- = no art within these areas
- = maybe art in these areas (with notations)
- = yes art in these areas (with notations)
- = tenants spaces, city streets, sidewalks in the park, etc.
  (white areas are not under Railyard Art Committee jurisdiction)
- = tenant buildings
- = common areas maintained by SFRCC
  (maybe art in these areas with SFRCC approval)
Children’s play area: Requires City Risk Management approval for no danger to children at play. Interactive art for children to play with may be OK. Possible art on railings or on climbing wall pending review. Performance art as per PP+P guidelines.

Entry ramada: Art on top of ramada, or hanging underneath, or banners, etc. But not on the ground under ramada.

Meadows: Art first 3 years while grasses growing. Art after first 3 years.

Circular ramada: Art same standards as entry ramada art. Art maybe between existing plants.
